

Consignees wanted for the Butikk at Camp

The Butikk is an important part of the camp. Therefore we are hoping the many talented people that attend the camp will show case their talents and products and at the same time contribute to the camp through consignment sales while making a bit of profit for themselves. If you do not craft, but have gently used items such as Scandinavian cookbooks, a Norwegian sweater that no longer fits, or the bunads that your children have out grown etc. and would like to sell these items please bring them in. They must be close to new. (We hold the option to refuse any item).

Here is how it works:

1. The Butikk will charge a 25% consignment fee of the selling price of the consigned item.
2. HERE IS THE FORMULA TO USE If you have a consigned item that you would like to have $10 back in your pocket once it is sold, then the formula to use would be $$10 + 33.4\%$. The final selling amount then becomes $13.35. That price subtract 25% for the Butikk is $$13.35 - 25\% = \10.00 for you and $3.35 for the Butikk. Please do not add just 25% to the total.
3. The items or products preferred would be with a Norwegian origin or connection, or at least a Scandinavian connection.
5. The consignee must present to the Butikk a list of the items with the price (including the butikk share) and each item clearly tagged with the selling price. The tag will be marked with "C" for consignment and have the sellers initials marked on the tag, tags must be secure.
7. At the end of camp the consignee will take back their unsold items. The Butikk will not store items over the winter. The Butikk is not responsible for lost, damaged or stolen items.

You do not have to be a camper to consign items but will be responsible for drop off and pick up. Please complete the following registration and return to:

Please return as soon as possible, so I have an idea of the number of suppliers and the variety of goods.
